Bower City Band One of State's Oldest Musical Organizations; Its Early Members Served in War

(By Mrs. Abbie Helms.)

A long and honorable existence, merged into the historical affairs of the city, is the record of the organization known as the Bower City Band. Some of Janesville's most prominent citizens were members in those early days and helped in not only the musical affairs of the city but in the stirring events of the war and many of the political happenings of the town and state.

The first organization was made in 1846 and was called the Janesville Brass Band, the leader being John Winder. Other members were James Loudon, Clumb Mason, Dick Wright, Mark Amador, Will Henry and two others—Goodlander and Austin.

James Loudon claims the honor of being the oldest living musician in consin, with William P. Lyons of Racine as commanding officer. They were mustered out in August, '62, and both joined the local band when it was reorganized the following year. John Winder played alto in the band and double bass in orchestra work, and Samuel B. Clemmons played cornet and flute for orchestra. Both were faithful and loyal members of the organization for many years.

A picturesque member of the band in those early days was Eddie Reed, as he was called at that time. He was born in Johnson, Vt., in 1851. He commenced to play snare drum when only eight years old, and served as drummer boy to most of the companies while they were recruiting in Janesville at the time of the war. He joined the band when it was re-organized in '73 and remained a member until 1881. He is still living and resides in Rockford.

When the regimental bands came back from the front in 1865, a new organization was formed known as the Bower City Band. The list of members beside the ones already named began with the leader, Charles T. Wheeler. He was the original proprietor of the Wheeler Woolen Mills on North Main street, and continued with the band until he removed to Topeka, Kas., in 1879. Both the Loudons—James and Mayhew—entered the new organization. Beside these there were Nate Proper, who played bass drum; Ed Cole and Dick Sanderson. In all there were twelve members and they met in the shoe shop of the Loudon Bros. to form their organization.

William C. Holmes was born in Manchester, England, and belonged to the Bower City Band of Yorkshire, Eng. He continued to belong to the Bower City Band from the time it was organized in '68 until he resigned in 1878.

Some of the other early members were John Thoroughgood, who joined in '65; S. Kent, joined in '72; Frank Gray, '72; Ben Grove, '73; Walter Holmes, '72; Herman Buchholz, '72; Adam Skane, '72; Foster Kimball, '68; D. D. Bennett, '76; John Tuckwood, '72; and John Kniff, '79.

The funeral of Lincoln in '65 was the earliest and perhaps the saddest occasion for which the band gave its services. The Loudons well remember passing by the casket of the martyred president when the remains lay in state in the court house in Chicago.

The band adopted a constitution in 1868 and secured a charter in 1870.

One of the earlier festival occasions when the band played in public was at a St. George picnic in Barnes woods in 1873. A dance was also given in the evening. They served as an escort to Bach's band of Milwaukee when that organization appeared in Janesville at a concert in 1873. On July 4, 1874, Hon. Matthew Carpenter delivered an oration in the court house park and the band rendered the music for the occasion. At that time they had sixteen members, which was considered a very large band. In July, 1874 they first went to Geneva Lake on a camping tour. During the following year they bought three acres of land and the Harvard camp for the sum of $500. At the present time it would probably be worth several times that amount, but it was sold in 1889 for about the original cost.

The band serenaded Mayor Hiram Merrill on the occasion of his election to the legislature in 1874.

The band played at the dedication of the upper cotton mill on Feb. 9, 1875.

They took part in a state seafest in Watertown in June, 1875, for than thirty years. He, with his brother, James, were made honorary members of the band many years ago, but both enjoy getting out to the band concerts and criticizing the musical efforts of the youngsters, as in days of yore.

The regiment was with Gen. McClellan in his peninsular campaign and at the disastrous retreat to Harrison's landing in '62. They were mustered out and returned home in the fall of '62. Robert Brand was also a member of the regimental band.

Two other musicians went to the front from this locality at the call for volunteers. They were Samus B. Clemmons of this city and John Heron of Sharon. Both were in the regimental band of the Thirtieth Wis-

Monday's Market.

Chicago, May 30.—Another new top for the year was established in the market yesterday when Armour paid $10.95 for 1,523 lbs. of hogs.

Choice to fancy beef steers closed steady at $10.50 above last week's finish, while other kinds were largely 10c to 15c lower.

Yesterday's hog markets declined active to lowest point since April 22. Best sold at $10.50, being 50c below two weeks ago, the year's high point.

Sheep and lambs declined 25c to 40c yesterday, with springs off most. Best: cutters, $11.50, being $2 lower than opening day in the week.

Best Bees at $10.90.

Bulk of beef steers sold yesterday at $9.50 to $10.50 for fair to choice. A dozen loads went at $10.75 to $10.90. Butcher's stock and calves sold weak to 25c lower than late last week. Quotations: Choice to fancy steers $10.20 to $10.90; poor to good steers $8.75 to $10.10; fat cows and heifers $7.00 to $9.00; fat cows and heifers $7.50 to $9.00; Native bulls and stags $6.00 to $9.25; Feeding cattle, 600 to 1,100 lbs. $6.00 to $9.00; Poor to fancy veal calves $8.50 to $11.50.

Quality of Hogs Good.

Closing hog market yesterday comparatively steady at $10.50 decline. Quality good and price range narrower. Pigs declined 25c lower. Quotations: Bulk of sales $9.50 to $10.75; Heavy butchers and ship $9.50 to $10.75; Light butchers $10.00 to $10.75; Light bacon $10.50 to $10.75; Heavy packing $10.00 to $10.75; Mixed packing $10.00 to $10.75; Rough, heavy packing $9.50 to $10.75; Poor to best pigs $6.00 to $10.75; Stags $8.00 lbs. dockage per head $1.00; Big Drop $1.00.

Sheep declined 25c to 50c and the crop of shorn lambs went largely at 50c to 10c decline yesterday, with bulk at $10.00 to $10.25. Sheep sold above $7.00. Quotations: Lambs, common to fancy $8.50 to $10.25; Lambs, poor to good culls $7.00 to $8.25; Yearlings, poor to best $7.00 to $8.25; Wethers, poor to best $7.00 to $8.25; Ewes, inferior to choice $7.00 to $8.25; Bucks, common to choice $7.00 to $8.25; Spring lambs $8.50 to $11.50.

again to Chicago with the Rockford Knights Templars in 1880 to attend a national convocation of that order. They were escorted by Gen. Grant and Governor Smith when they came to Janesville on Sept. 8, 1880, when the distinguished visitors were given a reception at the Myers House. They went to Madison to see the fair, and marched in a torchlight procession, and played at the meeting addressed by Judge Touge of New Orleans.

In 1882 they attended a public reception given by Dr. Henry Palmer at his home to Governor Rusk and Staff.

Played at Opening of Riverside rink March 19, 1885.

On Oct. 10, 1887, went to Madison and played for a reception to President Cleveland by Hon. W. F. Vilas.

The picnic given on the Fourth of July, 1889, when Burr Springs was dedicated, and the bridge raising picnic at the four-mile bridge were notable events in the history of the city. Also the dedication of the Jackson street bridge which took place in 1891. At many of these occasions the services of the band were given gratis. In the earlier days the band boys turned out freely for public affairs and refused pay for their musical efforts.

The later history of the band is well known, and these few notes concerning the earlier career of this organization, which have been collected in this way, to preserve in a concrete form those details that are bound up in the historical life of the city, and of the pioneer citizens concerned therein. We might say with Riley:

Yer new band maybe beats it, but the old bands, what I said—
It allus peared to chord with somepin in me head,
I make no doct yer new band's now, a competent band,
And plays their music more by note, than what they play by hand,
And stylisher and grander tunes; but I want to hear the old band play.

FLEMMING STARTED MONROE GAME TODAY

Janesville Mound Star Given Chance to Full Route Against Mon.

When the new Cardinal baseball team clashed with the Monroe Pirates at the Association Park diamonds this afternoon the fans found a new line in the field against the Green county club, who have not lost a game so far this season. Pete Flemming was given opportunity of going the full nine rounds and he was in good condition to do the job, and his showing against Madison would indicate that he will "make good" against the Pirates.

Franks, the Monroe pitcher, pitched the Monroe Pirates to a victory on the Monday afternoon. The Pirates were winning, 7 to 3. Monroe was represented by an automobile delegation this afternoon, who hoped to see the club continue their winning streak.

The American Giants defeated the Fairbanks-Morse team of Beloit at Chicago by the score of 6 to 2. Jim Brown, former White Sox third baseman, helped along the Giants by making two errors. Chicago's Giant's pitcher, only allowed two hits, Sam Lafferty, the Beloit mound star, will pitch against the Giants today.

SURPRISED BY FRIENDS ON OCCASION OF 20TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A jolly crowd of fifty self-invited guests took possession of the country of the town of Centerport, Saturday evening to remind them it was the twentieth wedding anniversary. The guests brought well-filled baskets and a supper was served early in the evening. Afterward and grocers of twenty years with a well-filled purse as a reminder of the occasion, and at midnight the guests departed to their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Brown many more happy anniversaries.

Miss A. I. Hobart.

Miss A. I. Hobart passed away Saturday morning at the home of C. E. Welch, 205 South 3rd street, where she had been making her home. Miss Hobart was stricken with bronchial pneumonia about a week ago, and as a result of the cause of her death. Miss Hobart was born in Milwaukee in 1851. She began teaching country school at the age of 16 years, and worked her way through Ripon college, finishing the course at the age of 24 years. She was a teacher in the state school for the blind in Janesville, for eight years, coming to the Wisconsin state school for the deaf in 1884, where she taught until her illness and death. She was a conscientious and thorough teacher and was beloved by her pupils and colleagues to whom her death came as a distinct shock, as also to her family and friends. Miss Hobart made a trip to Europe previous to 1897 and on her return to New York was commissioned by the state school here, then under the administration of her brother, Randall Hobart of Lake Crystal, Minn., her sister, Mrs. Etta Wilson Ashton, South Dakota and Mrs. C. A. Lewis, a cousin, Milwaukee, other relatives were present at her funeral. Her brother, Randall Hobart of Beloit, Wis.

MEMORIAL DAY.

May thirtieth is the day set aside by the Governors of the various states for the observance of a memorial to the dead soldiers of the north and south during the days of the sixties. It is a day on which special programs are being given throughout all civilized communities. It is the day when the graves of the boys in blue are decorated with flowers and flags to show to rising generation these men did not die in vain.

Each year the rank and file of the veterans of those troublesome days this nation was rent in twain become fewer and fewer. Their line of march shorter and shorter. While they don their faded blue pin on the breast the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, it is only a question of time when the last of them will have passed to the great beyond and taps will have been sounded on the soldiers who gave their lives that we might be one and united.

But there is a younger generation coming along to take their place. The sons of the men who fought in the sixties, themselves middle-aged men now. The boys who went out in Nineteen and the various fraternal and patriotic societies who wish to see this day commemorated and the memory of the men who gave their all honored and revered.

In the schools the day is explained, the observance maintained and with the rising generation taught to respect the day it is to be hoped it will not be forgotten in years to come. It is not a day for ball games, for recreation, but for the solemn observance of the memorial to the departed. At the Myers theatre this afternoon appropriate exercises will be given and the spirit of the day observed through the efforts of the special committee appointed some time ago to arrange for it. That it may be a yearly event is to be hoped for so that future generations of Americans may understand the days as one of memorial, not of jollification.

WHAT THE VETERANS GAVE.

Regret is often expressed that the observance of the national Memorial Day attracts so little attendance and attention. A pessimist might say that a parade of callow soldier boys of 1916 in their spick and span uniforms would attract a much larger crowd. Yet these youths are mere raw recruits who have had no baptism of fire. But they represent the forward look. The men who wore the Blue or the Gray represent a past age and the backward vision. History and those who stand for it are set aside in this hurrying age.

Yet it is not always possible to gauge popular interest merely by attendance at public exercises. Poor church attendance does not mean that the people are ready to give up religious worship. The Memorial Day Observances are about the same thing year after year, and our restless people demand novelties.

Public appreciation is always tardy. But the luster of soldierly deeds of '61 is bound to increase. Great societies will grow up of men and women glad to claim descent from soldier blood. Records will be searched to prove this distinction.

When the old soldiers are asked to address school children, the youngsters always seem thrilled by their simply told tales of heroism. The public gratitude to these men is warmer than they or their friends realize. When one of them dies, the fact of his soldierly service is the one thing the newspapers emphasize the most.

It is too bad that full recognition is not given these men before they pass on. The younger generation too little realize what they gave up for their cause. Half of those who returned were so affected by disease and overstrain that they could never achieve any business success. They gave up their all, and our people should never forget it.

PUBLIC REJECTED.

The senate's rejection of George Rublee, nominated by President Wilson for the Federal Trade Commission and who has served on that commission ever since its creation, constituted a decided blow to Mr. Wilson's prestige in Congress and strikingly indicates the waning power of the Executive. Mr. Wilson exerted every influence to induce the senate to confirm Mr. Rublee, notwithstanding which fact fourteen democrats voted against his confirmation. The republicans voted that solidly against the New Hampshire democrat on the plea of Senator Gallinger that Rublee was personally obnoxious to him, but the Democratic opposition was due to another cause. It was brought out in the executive session that Rublee has always been a champion of that peculiarly obnoxious form of monopoly which would enable the manufacturers of patented and proprietary articles to fix the prices at which they must be sold and to forbid any retailer to cut prices. This form of monopoly has been condemned by the supreme court, but by a narrow majority. It was further brought out that Mr. Rublee had cooperated with Louis D. Brandeis in framing and attempting to lobby through the Stevens bill, which provides that manufacturers could so fix prices. Many of the republicans maintained, moreover, that President Wilson had evaded the law in nominating Rublee, who was a progressive on a board which the law provided must be bipartisan. Senator La Follette led the fight for Rublee's confirmation. It was defeated 36 to 42.

It is claimed in opposition to Justice Hughes that there has been no president with whippers for many years, but anyway he'll never show any pieces of black coat plaster pasted over shaving cuts.

The man who has not by this time received any allotment of petunia, larkspur, carrot and parsley seeds from the government, might as well conclude that he is considered a negligible figure in national politics.

From the way automobiles are run, it would seem as if a large number of people were trying to beat E. G. Baker's record of seven days, eleven hours and fifty-two minutes from Los Angeles to New York.

A town far out of the range of an invading army can still be interested in the preparedness campaign of they are given encouragement that they may get a munitions factory.

After deploring the loose habits of Sunday observance, some people find fault with the baker for not delivering ice cream at just the right time for Sunday dinner.

The noise from the back yards about now is not a boiler factory working on munitions of war, but merely Mary Ann doing spring cleaning to the parlor rugs.

Many people's idea of working in the Clean-Up movement is spending some time every day cursing the public officials for not doing it.

Perhaps the editors would not say so much against spring house cleaning if their wives did not call on them to take up the carpet.

It is much easier to holler down to your wife to come up and find your spring clothes than to go through the closets yourself.

Careful citizens clean up their grounds at this season of the year by removing the ash barrel from the front to the back yard.

There is a strong sentiment that the government should take a firm and resolute position in dealing with the nations not able to fight us.

Temperance Talk

Richland Center, Merchants Profit by Prohibition.

(By Temperance Educational League.) The following letter is from A. H. Kronskop who is said to be the wealthiest man as well as the oldest merchant in Richland Center. He is recognized throughout the state as a careful and successful business man. The letter should bear in mind that there have been no saloons in Richland Center since 1907. Mr. Kronskop's statement bears date of February 24, 1916, and is as follows:

"The volume of our business has shown a steady increase each year since 1907. This fact should quiet the fears of business men in wet towns that the adoption of a dry policy would injure their business. Among our valued customers today, we have quite a number whose trade, a few years ago was not desirable because of their uncertain credit due to the drink habit. These same persons are pleasant to deal with.

The dry policy has also aided in eliminating the bad account record as we note frequently that we can now make collections of parties who previously were hopeless because of their wastage through drink. Very rarely do we now have to transact business with a man who is in any way under the influence of liquor. Any business man who has had experience in dealing with stupefied drinking men, knows how it tries the patience to deal pleasantly with such persons. The dry policy of Richland Center has made for better business and commercial conditions. We say most emphatically that we do not favor going back to the license policy. Viewed from every point the saloon is a liability to any community.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

THE ICEMAN
Of all the animals that roam upon the earth and call it "home," Or revel in the ocean's foam, I'd rather be the iceman.
The desert lion reigns supreme, At scorching folk's one whole team, But still, this is no idle dream, I'd rather be the iceman.

He backs his wagon to our door, About the sleepy hour of four; Lets out a yell and then some more, This energetic iceman.
There comes a rumble, then a whack, As something heavy hits our shack, And sends a cold shiver up our back— A good aim has our iceman.

He is a monarch in a way, Of all the things he can survey; He is a king who's come to stay— The high and mighty iceman.
He is the gent that gets the dough, It matters not where he may go, For just one summer time or so, I'd rather be the iceman.

The Hickeyville Clarion.
Miss Lottie Bibbins made some pancakes by a cooking school recipe the other day and her old man has used 'em to nail over some rat holes down to his feed mill.
I never see a slide trombone player who doesn't look as though he was laboring under a secret sorrow, and this is also true of the people who listen to him.

One other thing that nobody ever says is a beautiful life insurance agent.
A book agent will take almost anything but his departure.

Efficient Chewing.
From a welfare report:
We found Mrs. Bonham a pleasant little woman whose husband had earned her pretty new sewing machine by chewing tobacco. I reckon you think that is a mighty funny method of earning anything, but some tobacco has tags which are redeemable, and the machine was one of the premiums. Mrs. Bonham just beamed with pride as she rolled out her machine. "I never had a machine before," she explained. "I just went to the neighbors when I had to sew. So, of course, I wanted a machine awfully bad. So Frank just chewed and chewed, and I saved every tag till we got the machine. Frank is chawing out a clock now; but that won't take him so long as the machine did."

From Our Champ Liar.
Here is some economy in the use of fuel. One of our townsmen had a chunk of wood that he burned for three winters. This is how he did it. He had a large stove with a powerful draft and he would place the chunk therein at bedtime and owing to the very strong upward pressure of hot air the wood was forced up through the pipe and chimney and would then roll down the incline of the roof and land on the ground, only to be picked up and used again the next night. Very simple you see.

Bucolic Bliss.
Oh, how my yearning heart inclines To trim the trailing radish vines, And hoe the prunes that pleasures To all who garden in the spring.

How eagerly each morn I rush To view the pretty cabbage brush, And pluck fair blossoms on the tea From branches of the turnip tree.

Oh, how I do await a chance To hoe the lovely olive plants, And pick potatoes from the vines, And dig in my crabapple mines.

Hands Up.

A smile will pay.
Make business boom;
For experts say,
You can't sell gloom.

"Mulliger," whispered Mrs. Tawny, "I hear someone moving in the next room. It must be a burglar!"

"Huh?" said Mulliger Tawny sleepily. "Nonsense! There's nothing in this house to attract a burglar."

"I know that as well as you do, you shiftless wretch, but the burglar don't know it!" hissed Mrs. Tawny. "Oh, there's a man with a dark lantern!"

"Let me at him!" cried Mulliger Tawny. And in one bound he had the masked intruder by the throat.

"I surrender!" gasped the house-breaker.

"Take him out to a policeman," cried Mrs. Tawny from under the bedclothes. And, after holding the burglar by the power of his eye as he hastily dressed, Mulliger led him from the room.

Once outside, the burglar tore off his mask and laughed great, round laughs: "O! O! O!" Then he and Mulliger repaired arm in arm to the club and draw poker. It was the first night's vacation that poor Mulliger Tawny had had in two months.

MAY PUT DUTCH SHIPS UPON A NEW ROUTE TO THE AMERICAN PORTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Rotterdam, Netherlands, May 30.—Consideration is being accorded by marie circles to a suggestion that the biggest and most valuable Dutch vessels now plying between the Netherlands and American ports be placed upon a new route, running from America to either Spain or Norway, the cargoes there to be transhipped in smaller vessels, of which Holland has more than a sufficient number.

The purpose of such a plan would be to enable the large vessels to avoid

AN ORDER For a REFRIGERATOR TO THE JUNE BRIDE

Would not only be highly acceptable—but mighty practical.

For the young couple that are about to start housekeeping this article is about as necessary as any. A large percentage of the gifts that are usually given represent ornamental home pieces for decorative purposes.

The girl who is highly practical will look upon the giver of a REFRIGERATOR with considerable favor, and will have cause to long remember the donor for the excellent and wise judgment displayed in the selection of her wedding present.

This is a suggestion that is due your serious consideration, and deep down in her heart every June Bride will hope that one of her friends not only remembers the suggestion, but really does send her an order for a REFRIGERATOR.

SOLDIERS BATTLE AS DID GLADIATORS IN TRENCH RAIDS

Mun Is But Mere Pawn When These Deadly Combats Are Ordered.—Fight Like Ancient Gladiators.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

British headquarters, France, May 29.—Between the British and German modern machine warfare wherein every man was supposed to have become a pawn without initiative of his own, the developing, perhaps the deadliest form of sport imagination can conceive—where every combatant places his cunning, his strength and his skill in hand-to-hand fighting against those of his adversary.

Hardly a day passes when there is not a trench raid by one side or the other, and sometimes several such sallies. No subject is more taboed in its details by the censor. Commanders do not wish to let the enemy know why their raids succeed or fail or why the enemy's succeed or fail. Invention fights invention; secret fights secrecy.

All the elements of boxing, wrestling, fencing and mob tactics plus the stealth of the Indian who creeps up on a camp on the plains and the teamwork of a professional baseball nine are valuable to the player.

The weapon that is least needed is a rifle. A club or a sandbag or an Indian battle axe or spiked club is better. A good slinger without any weapon at all may take an adversary's rifle away from him and knock him down, and then kick him to death.

Schemes of Strategy. The monotony of trench existence these days is broken up by preparing for raids and against them. Battalion commanders work out schemes of strategy which would have won them fame in smaller wars. Fifty men or a thousand may be engaged in a raid, but the plan is the same. It is to take a number of prisoners and kill and wound as many of the enemy as possible in a few minutes; and then to get back to the trench. The soldiers try to hold on to the piece of ground they have taken, the guns are turned on them, the bombers close up on either side, and machine guns and rifles are prepared to sweep the zone of retirement.

An uncanny curiosity gives the soldiers incentive for the raids. Ordinarily they never see their enemy hidden in his burrows across "No Man's Land" from their own trenches. They see bullets from unseen snipers crack overhead. Unseen guns suddenly concentrate in a deluge of shells. For months this sort of thing has been going on. The soldiers are in a state of nerves. The adversaries remain always in the same place; the grim monotony of casualties and watching continues. This arouses the desire to "get at" the enemy which the trench raid satisfies.

The "get at" the enemy means death. In order to get any such rush there must be "interference" as they say in football, and the warfare in front of the enemy's trench must be cut. This is usually to turn accurate sprays of destruction on given points. They cover the rush and they cover the return of the raiders with their prisoners.

Organized Trickery. But the guns are not all there is of it. There is a development in order to enable a body of soldiers to get into the enemy's trenches for a few minutes of activity, when the occupants throw themselves on their backs and are shot. It is a question if even a revolver now a practical weapon. It cannot be thrown over a traverse and a bomb can. Running into a German around the corner of a trench is a blow may be better than a shot.

There have been trench raids where every man who went out was responsible for a casualty or prisoner while the raiders own loss might not have been in ten to the enemy's. These are also failures. Success requires that every detail should work out right. The British inaugurated trench raiding which the Germans promptly adopted. With its development will end no one dares venture to say. One advantage of any raid is that those who return are bound to bring back some information of value to the intelligence corps.

Offense Corps. In the trenches as well as officers in other military units, usually wear steel corsets as a protection against spent bullets.

Score one for the breastplate, said an officer who had been doubted over a shell fragment which hit him in the abdomen. Instead of a flow of blood crimsoning his blouse all that was visible through the rent in the cloth was an abrasion on a steel surface.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIE LAND

6V DAISY DEAN

Another screen actress is rising rapidly to the pinnacle of popularity. Her name is Margaret Wilson. She is a brunette and strikingly pretty with that indefinable quality that directors call personality.

She has lately been in "The Primal Lust" playing opposite William S. Hart; and now she is to appear in support of Douglas Fairbanks in his seventh Triangle play, "The Assassin."

Why is it, by the way, that Fairbanks seems to be taking all of Hart's leading ladies away? He just took Bessie Love.

Miss Wilson has already made her name on the speaking stage. It was while resting in California from arduous labors there, that she became interested in film work and applied to D. W. Griffith for a position.

Her first picture convinced him that she was the sort of material he was seeking, and at once made her a member of his permanent stock company.

SOMETHING NEW IN MOVIE DRAMA. Undoubtedly the future of movie drama is in doing what cannot be done on the stage, not in merely producing staged plays.

Something new in this direction is to be offered in a picture starring Judd Caprice.

She drinks a glass of wine and it goes to her head. When that happened on the stage the confused one says she sees double, and we take her word for it.

In this film play the audience is made to see just what the director young person in the play does. This is accomplished by photographing parts of the picture twice and throwing both together on the screen.

In comes a near-sighted old lady whose old-fashioned spectacles are on her forehead.

She looks at the hero, and sees him dimly. The audience is made to see him as through her near-sighted eyes. This is by photographing the figure out of focus. Then she adjusts her glasses, and the audience, with the old lady in the play, sees the hero clearly.

In speaking of the days when she used to play Indian girl parts almost exclusively, Little says she is surprised that the stuff went over so well.

"The Race" with Victor Moore and Anita King, which was shown at the Apollo yesterday is about as interesting a picture as has been released for some time. It is a jolly, pleasing photo-play quite out of the ordinary run of pictures.

It is capitalized out of Miss King's recent drive across the country, and dressed up with a little love, a little rivalry, and a good deal of human nature.

Victor Moore, he of the Chimmie Fadden fame, still keeps his reputation as a laugh creator. Miss King is a charming little actress and quite some driver of a car. They race for a large prize, encountering many exciting difficulties on their way, thereby providing new situations and resulting in a mighty clever crisis.

GINGLES' JINGLES

BOOST. Be a booster for the paper in the town in which you live, 'tis an obligation that you owe to always freely give to support the local publisher, you need him and his sheet, for he keeps the old town on the map, his boost is hard to beat. And he tells you all the little things you always long to know, and keeps boosting for the old home town, keeps it from getting slow; he's the most important factor of which your home town can boast, so boys put your shoulder to the wheel, return his boost—don't roast, and he'll give you his best service, but must have the where-withal, so if your account be in arrears—give him a business call. He will do his part, believe me, if you boost him as you should, but he needs your good will and your cash to keep on making good; so if you desire prosperity you should not fly to roost, until you've slipped your editor and town a live wire.

The Buddhist belief that death is only a transmigration to another field of existence—that obedience to the moral laws; the practice of charity, tolerance, justice, honesty and truth insures a journey in heaven followed by a higher existence on earth—has much to do with the action of "His Majesty Bunker Bean" who comes to Myers Theatre for one performance only, Friday evening, June 6th, fresh from a triumphant six months engagement at the Court theatre, Chicago. It is the belief that he is the reincarnation of Ram-Tah, a great and wise Egyptian king, that gives Bunker the confidence that leads to success.

Heart and Home PROBLEMS

—By—
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
In care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married to a man just three months and he is a widower with three children. He told me he was marrying for love and a companion and that he owned city property and a farm. Since we have been married he says that he only married me to keep his children together. He owns no farm and is only paying for his city property. Also he has not provided for me and my child by a former marriage. We have not had enough food to keep us from being hungry. I had much more when I was single than I have now. What would you advise me to do? Should I leave him and also be myself or stay with one who does not love me and only cares for his children?

Since your husband has not money to be paying for his city property you can force him to provide the necessities of life for you, but not for your child. You can demand whatever may be reasonably necessary for health and comfort. I think it would be better, however, to leave your husband and support yourself and child as you did before you married him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I must have you cheer me up a little. I have been married about four years and have two children. When we were married my husband told me that if I loved him as well as he did me there would be nothing wrong. I have been suffering from the loss of his love more and more every day. When he comes home I manage to have everything just his way and do myself clean, but he does not pay attention to me. He loves the children dearly—does not know which to kiss first. But he never even says

“hello” to me. It almost breaks my heart. I start to cry because I can’t help it. I love him so much. He scolds me and so I am afraid to cry when he is around. What shall I do? He tells me I am foolish for thinking he does not love me. He says the children are first now. I know I will not last long if this keeps up.

(2) If I want to go away from home for a few minutes, he always wants me to ask him if I can go. I have tried asking him, but he refused to let me go. He will not let me go anywhere.

HUNGRY-HEARTED. (1) Men like other women. As long as you are morbid and cry because you think your husband no longer loves you, he will turn away from you. Don't worry about the effect your actions will have on him. Be independent and do what you want to regardless of what he thinks. As long as he sees you are afraid of his opinion he will be over exacting. Stop talking about the change in his regard for you. He loved you and will love you if you are companionable and pleasant to be with. As long as you cry and accuse him of not loving you, he will not feel comfortable in your society.

(2) Go wherever you want to without asking. When he scolds pay no attention to him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a boy eighteen years old. I have been going with a girl about two years who is slightly younger than I am and we are very much in love and hope to get married soon. What kind of an engagement ring should I get her?

(2) As I have a good job for my salary and a chance for a raise, should we rent a flat upon or rent a house out of town? It costs quite a bit for car fare if you live out of town.

E. J. (1) Do you know that you will have to wait until you are twenty-one before you can marry unless you have your parents' consent? I think you are far too young to marry now. The girl you are going to marry can afford to get married soon.

(2) Do whichever suits you better, if you feel that you MUST get married before you are in long trousers.

THE TABLE. Cook 1½ cups spaghetti in boiling water till tender. Turn into a strainer and run under cold water to separate the pieces.

Place a casserole with one cup strained tomato juice and sprinkle with grated cheese. Then prepare one pound ground steak, one teaspoon chopped onion, two tablespoons chopped pepper, one cup tomato juice; mix all together and spread over top of spaghetti. Cover the top generously with grated cheese. Bake thirty minutes in medium oven.

Beet-Egg Salad—When beets have been boiled tender and skins removed, cut them into thin slices and cover with a good cold, slice and slice. Place in a bowl and add a little salt and sugar, two cloves and a bay leaf. Let them stand two or three hours, then drain. Eggs have been boiled hard and shells removed, place them in this vinegar for half hour, then remove and drain. Place beet slices on crisp lettuce leaves, then over them slice the hard-boiled eggs.

Salad Dressing—Put into a saucepan two teaspoons dry mustard, five teaspoons sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, one teaspoon paprika, mix dry ingredients together, beat an egg and stir into dry mixture, then add one tablespoon melted butter, one cup either sweet or sour milk, three-fourths cup vinegar, oil until it begins to thicken, stirring constantly. Just what does “incipient tuberculosis” mean? If no germs are found in the sputum of such a patient, is she likely to transmit the disease to others? Can she casually in contact with others? Would it be unwise to allow a well person to occupy a room recently used by such a patient? If the room is clean, well-aired and lighted, and the former occupant was scrupulous in disposing of all expectoration? If not, what can be done to make the room safe?

Answer—Incipient means first stage. If the patient is conscientious in the disposal of sputum, her cough, etc., and if she realizes that she must never kiss anybody, nor kerchief, nor cough except in her handkerchief, there is no danger in casual contact with her. Only by prolonged intimate contact would there be a chance for transmitting the disease. Assuming the room was well washed with soap and water, it is perfectly safe.

month. Brown Bread—Cream one tablespoon butter with one cup brown sugar, add one pint sour or buttermilk, to which add one teaspoon salt and one cup raisins. Mix one cup raisins with three cups Graham flour and one cup white flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, one-half cup sweet milk, two cups sugar, one cup molasses, mix all together and add the butter and sugar mixture. Bake in a loaf in a hot oven.

Strawberry Shortcake—Four tablespoons baking powder, half teaspoon salt, add one cup sugar, one cup flour, one cup butter, seven-eighths cup milk, two cups flour, one quart strawberries. Mix flour, baking powder, salt and sugar; sift twice. Work in butter with fingers, add milk gradually, divide into two parts and roll out to fit cake tin, using the least possible flour to roll. Put one part on tin, spread lightly with melted butter, then place other part on top. Bake fifteen minutes in hot oven. When baked the two parts will separate easily without cutting. Mash berries slightly, sweeten and place between cakes. A dozen or so whole berries may be placed on top for a decoration.

Rhubarb Fritters—Scrape stalks of the rhubarb, cut into lengths, stew in sugar water ten minutes, drain and set aside to get cold. Make a batter of a half pint milk, three eggs beaten light, and a cupful of flour. Beat hard and stir into the batter a spoonful of deep, boiling fat and fry to a light brown. Serve with lemon sauce.

Strawberries on the Stem—Select nice red berries, leaving the stems on. Wash thoroughly and drain. Place in a bowl and add a little sugar in the center of the plate and surround this with the berries.

Dreams—Lay a very thin slice of cheese between two slices of bread (one-quarter inch thick). Have the yolk of an egg beaten and add to it one-half cup of milk. Dip both sides of the sandwich into the milk and egg and fry a nice, delicate brown.

iced Fruit—Cut in small dice two slices of pineapple, two oranges, one large ripe banana, add one-half cup sugar and one cup of water. Set in the ice box until thoroughly chilled. Serve in sherbet glasses with Saratoga sauce, which has been spread with butter and lightly browned in the oven. Before taking to the table drop a large red cherry into each glass.

Hot Potatoes—Salt and boil until tender. After pouring off the water set over the fire until they become dry and mealy. Add butter and pepper and serve whole.

a battle royal." He entered his gate moody and capricious, dreading to enter the house on account of the social difficulties awaiting him there. Scarcely had he stepped inside the door when Ethel flew to meet him, her gauzy dress that had looked so out of place in the woods floating out behind her, her face dimpled and smiling.

"Oh, Ralph," she exclaimed, "I have a letter from mamma. She is coming to visit us. I am so glad." She danced up and down with girlish glee.

Ralph's spirits rose with a bound. This unfathomable girl had annihilated the disagreeable past and all its consequences with a single gesture.

"I would be a fool not to enjoy the sunshine because it may rain tomorrow," he thought as he helped her dish the ice cream.

Use the Want Ad in your business and forget all else. It will do your work for you. You don't believe it? Well, just read below:

Gentlemen:—Have used the little "Want Ads" in the Gazette five or six times and never failed to receive answers to them. On May 1st, 3rd, and 5th, I used the following ad:

FOR SALE—Hatching eggs from Thompson & Parks' Barred Rocks. Pedigreed. We have the goods. Write Green Lawn Poultry Farm, Avalon, Wis. 25-1-3-60d.

And soon I found I could hardly supply the demand for hatching eggs. My advice is, if you have anything to sell use a Gazette Want Ad and forget it. It will take care of itself.

WATCH CHEVROLET IN CLASSIC RACE FOR SPEED HONOR

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Indianapolis Speedway, May 30.—The interest of the big crowd filling grandstand, bleachers and infield at the speedway here today centered in the attempted comeback of Louis Chevrolet, the lone surviving member of the famous team that made automobile racing history in 1908, 1909, 1910. Chevrolet, with twenty-eight other world famous speed drivers, faced the starter in the sixth annual international sweepstakes 300 mile dash over the speedway of vitrified brick.

Chevrolet's two teammates have crossed the great divide. Louis Strang was killed while driving a touring car at a snail's pace in the Wisconsin reliability run five years ago, and Bob Burman died at Corona when a wheel on his Peugeot broke. Chevrolet alone remains to uphold the honor of the Three Musketeers of other days.

Chevrolet nominated three cars for Memorial day classic, all of his own design and construction and bearing the name of Frontenac. The motors are of aluminum and will develop a minimum of 125 horse power. The cars are exceptionally light, tipping the scales at 1,750 pounds.

Following the 1910 Vanderbilt cup race, the "red Vanderbilt" in which his car ran wild and killed his mechanic, the veteran relied from the game, but its lure brought him back.

Chevrolet returned in 1914, driving in the tortuous Cactus derby in which Barney Oldfield won the title of the master driver of the world. The shortening of the Indianapolis race from 500 to 300 miles increased rather than decreased its popularity. The prizes the twenty-nine drivers compete for amount to $30,000 in cash with three intermediate trophies and $12,000 to the winner.

Today's race will be unique in that no former winner on the Indianapolis Speedway will be represented among the drivers. Barney Oldfield, the fastest of American auto racing, will pilot a Delage.

"If I win today this will be my last race," said Oldfield just before the race started.

Favored next to Oldfield is Dario Resta, the greatest European driver. Speedway fans remember the great race Resta drove last year when he pushed De Palma to a record-breaking speed to win.

Third favorite is Josef Christaens who while not so well known as Resta or Oldfield, did 120 miles an hour on the Brooklands track.

Gil Anderson, winner of the 1915 Sheepshead Bay race, is another driver who will be watched. Eddie O'Donnell has shown by his two 300-mile victories on the Pacific Coast this season that he is a contender. Aiken and Rickenbacker are also expected to place in the money.

That the 300-mile record will be broken was a practically unanimous prediction just before the big race started.

After Eddie O'Donnell had qualified Monday afternoon, it was announced that an accident to the machinery of his car would prevent him starting today. O'Donnell is from Whitewater, Wisconsin, and was picked as a sure driver to come within the money, which goes to the first ten.

Sport Snap Shots

MORRIS MILLER

Cap Billy Neal, who has picked up a number of good ones for the Philion in the past few weeks as a scout, has quit his position with the National league champions. "Personal business" is the reason assigned and said that Cap will have no further catching on with another club that will pay him more money for his services as an ivory picker.

St. Louis fans who were told that Roy Corbett was the superior of Dan Bancroft as a shortstop when the two were in the coast league are not so sure of it now. Corbett's work has been uncertain with the Cards and in the Texas League. Bancroft is a mechanical rigger, while Bancroft is seldom found making a mental mistake and was going fast until injured.

Manager Frank Chance admits that he is making changes. He has taken on George Kahler and let Grover Prant go. Prant goes to San Antonio in Texas. Kahler, formerly with the Cleveland Indians and later with Portland, was let go by Portland because he wanted too much salary.

Coast reports have it that Justin Fitzgerald's arm is all right again and holding out superbly. If this be true, the advance of this youngster to the majors, delayed for the past three years because of that lame whip, is about due. Fitzgerald injured his arm in 1911 during a tryout with the New York Yankees, and it has been a long road back.

The passing out of Joe Corbett from the San Francisco team was rather pitiful. "Day" was arranged for him by Frisco managers and he pitched the opener against Salt Lake. He was hit for ten swats and nine runs before he gave way after the seventh inning, after being presented with numerous floral offerings. Long Tom Hughes opposed him and though Tom gave up seventeen hits managed to worry through by deft scattering. Corbett was released after the game.

When Outfielder Tommy Long was hurt Manager Miller Huggins put him on the inactive list for ten days and restored himself as an active player. Huggins had declared he would play no more ball, but things broke so badly with his team that he injected himself into the breach. Huggins may be about done, but he can still show them a few tricks by the power of example.

Lee Magee, who says his 200 hitting mark is due to his eyes being affected through playing the sunfield at the Polo grounds, will get a chance to prove the worth of his alibi, since he has been moved to center field, following the injury of Fritz Meisel. Hugh High, who needs no alibi, will play in left and show Magee how it should be done.

It is stated that in sending George Meisel to Montreal the Detroit club specifies that he shall be used at third base, with the idea of developing him for future use at that position on the Tigers.

Fritz Meisel of the Yankees had a remembrance that he was going to be hurt if he kept on trying to play the outfield. "How do you like the outfield, Fritz?" asked Chick Gandil recently. "Rotten," replied Meisel. "I'm an awful outfielder, but I'll stick there until Donovan finds it out or I kill myself. I know I'm going to get it." And shortly after that he plunged head first and broke his collar bone.

The St. Joseph Boosters' club, an organization of fans, has filed a protest with President Zehrung against alleged rowdiness of Wichita players in games played at St. Joseph. It is alleged the actions of Manager Jackson and his players were such as to drive decent people away from the park. Jackson himself is said to have been particularly "nauseating" in his conduct.

Brooklyn fans rode Ollie O'Mara off the team when it was at home, but Ollie is going grandly on the road as a substitute for Ivan Olson, who was injured in one of the games at St. Louis. Give the youngster the confidence that comes with encouragement and he may yet show the Flat-bush population.

WILLOWDALE DEFEATS GIANTS SUNDAY 9 TO 7

In a close game at the Giants' diamond, the Willowdale club defeated Rock Giants by the score of 9 to 7 Sunday afternoon. Eastman pitched great ball for the Willowdale club. The lineups for the two teams was as follows:

Willowdale:—Utzig, c; Eastman, p; Bowles, 1b; Mooney, 2b; Smith, 3b; Mooney, ss; Natz, Crane and Dabson fielders.

Rock Giants:—E. Klem, c; L. Klem, p; Dillon, 1b; K. Klem, 2b; Vobian, 3b; W. Uehling, ss; Waldman, Seltz and Uehling, fielders.

PREMIER EVENT IS SCHEDULED IN LONDON THE NOTED BRITISH DERBY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Newmarket, England, May 30.—Forgetting for the moment the war that has taken so many of their numbers, England's sportsmen and women gathered here today for the running of that premier racing event, the British Derby.

Following the running of the blue ribbon today will come the second great heat of the season, the Oaks, day after tomorrow.

Great interest centers in the performance of Foxhall P. Keene's Puss in Boots, the only American nomination in either event, which is entered for the Oaks.

The prospects for this season's flat racing are far brighter than might reasonably have been expected, for meetings, in addition to several here, have been arranged at Newbury, Lingfield, Gatwick and Windsor.

Great efforts are being made to get the Government's sanction for meetings at some of the north England courses, which are not near the munition factories.

The King has entered Spey Royal and Sir Dighton in the Derby, while among the best of last year's horses, whose names appear in the list, are Silver Star, Cayon, Carissimus, Atheling, Figaro, Argos, Ali Ber and Fifinella.

The entries for the Oaks include King George's White Pearl and Foxhall P. Keene's Puss in Boots. The conditions and nominations are:

New Derby stakes, a sweepstakes of $500 each, half forfeit, with 400 sovereigns (about $8,000) added, for three-year-olds: entire colts and fillies; Suffolk Stakes course, one and a half miles. Spey Royal and Sir Dighton, King George's White Pearl, Sir A. Bailey, Gilbert, the Filbert, J. W. Burton, Robin, J. D. Cohn, Phalaris, Lord Derby, Harleston, Lad James Douglas, Faxon, J. L. Duedale, Kwang Su, Mr. Fairie, Carissimus, Lord Palmouth, Polydamon, C. T. Garland, Condottiere, Lord Harewood, Ferox, C. Howard, Atheling, E. Hulton, Kig's Joker, J. B. Joel, Sirian, Mrs. J. B. Joel, Roi D'Ecosse, Major McCalmont, Syvofide, H. E. Morris, Figaro, L. Neumann, Argos and Adon, no. J. Neumann, Garlan Duchess of Newcastle, Canobie, Duke of Portland, Leonard, Mr. Russell, assavian, J. P. Prichard, Valais, W. M. G. Sincere, Fleming Fire, F. C. Stern, Dugie.

WHAT TO DO WHEN BACKACHE COMES ON

Get a box of Foley Kidney Pills and take them as directed. They stop the backache, ease stiff aching joints and muscles, relieve the congested condition of the kidneys that cause the pain. Frank W. Sherman, Lacona, N. Y., says: "I suffered with a feeling in my back, did not have an ambition, and felt all tired out. Used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now have entirely recovered."—W. J. Sherer.

THE GOOD JUDGE IS SORRY FOR THE BOY

THAT OLD CHAP IS SORRY AT SOMEBODY—WONDER WHY?

HE SENT THE BOY ABOUT AN HOUR AGO FOR A POUCH OF W-B CUT. HE OUGHT NOT TO HAVE BEEN GONE TEN MINUTES.

THAT YOUNG BRAT'S SO WOLOP COMING TO HIM. HE KNOWS IN OUT OF THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

IT'S when a man runs out of W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew—that he feels he is missing something.

Big wads of ordinary kind of tobacco won't satisfy the men who know W-B CUT Chewing.

A small chew satisfies—and is comfortable. No big wad like the ordinary kind. Not so much spitting either—and it lasts longer.
